

Don't I Know You?

Key Word: Mischief

Key Verse: He found Philip and said to him, "Follow me." John 1:43b

"Don't I know you?" asked the man. Darcy thought that he was looking straight at her; she felt a mixture of guilt and fear. "Come on," she muttered. "I don't like this." She and Sandy ran off, leaving the man staring. Darcy said, "He was looking straight at me. What does he know about me?" "You?" responded Sandy. "I think he was looking straight at me!" Darcy frowned, "Perhaps it was both of us. We've done so many mischievous deeds."

The next day, the man was there as they turned the corner, and he'd seen them. "Don't I know you?" he asked again. Both girls shook their heads. "I don't think so," said Darcy. Sandy added, "People say all teenage girls look alike." "No," said the man, "I'm sure it was you two. I wouldn't have forgotten. I spotted you right away." Darcy felt ill. "I'm sure you're mistaken," she said. They ran home. Darcy's mother was waiting for them, "Come in here, please, there's someone I'd like you to meet." In the living room, was the man talking to her father. The man said, "Yes, it's them. I'd know them anywhere." Darcy felt numb. The man added, "They were so kind to my mother. She had Alzheimer's and she acted strangely at times. Most children picked on her, but these two helped her. That was months ago, and my mother has died, but I've never forgotten them." The girls began laughing — they had forgotten their good deeds. The man continued, "They're such a happy pair, I definitely want them in my film."

The girls could hardly believe their ears. There was nothing more to worry about. They started to act as film extras. It was the beginning of a wonderful career for them both. Darcy said to Sandy, "I'm glad he saw us! Life wouldn't have been as exciting without him."
