

Luke's Grandpa

Key Word: Value

Key Verse: "But even the hairs on your head are all counted. Do not be afraid; you are of more value than many sparrows." Luke 12:7

Grandpa was the most interesting person Luke had ever met. When they were indoors, he'd often play the piano for Luke. He could play any tune Luke could name.

Outdoors, Grandpa knew the name of every flower and every tree, where to spot bird's nests, and how to track foxes and deer. He enjoyed poking about in pools and water and filling jars with newts and minnows and tadpoles. Luke would ask endless questions. Grandpa always listened carefully, and always answered thoughtfully.

Luke loved Grandpa so much, he wanted to give something back to him. The next weekend, when Grandpa sat down at the piano, Luke quietly put his gift on top of the piano.

Grandpa didn't say anything. He looked at the gift thoughtfully, and when Grandpa slowed down, the figure slowed down, too.

"What a waste of money!" sneered Luke's sister. "Mom, do you know how much they cost? Luke must have spent all the money he has on that!"

"Is this true, Luke?" asked his mother. "It's a shame for you to waste hard-earned money on silly things. Anyway, you could've bought something useful."

Grandpa looked at Luke and there were tears in his eyes. But he blinked very quickly, and then he winked. Then he said: "This is the best present I've ever had. When you get to my age, nobody gives you anything just for fun. And I'm not sure anybody has ever given me a surprise gift before, just to say, 'I love you.' "

He turned to Luke. "Thank you, Luke," he said gravely. "I love you too, more than I can say."

Luke grinned, a huge, wide grin. He winked back at Grandpa and said: "Would you like to take a walk in the woods?" And Grandpa smiled back, and went to get his coat.
